

Global EbA Fund

Funding Innovative & Catalytic Ecosystem-based Adaptation Projects

August 2023 Newsletter

Apply to the 6th cohort by 15 September 2023

The Global EbA Fund has moved its application process online!

The Global EbA Fund has launched its first pilot application programme that is entirely online. All applications under the 6th cohort with the cut-off date set for 15 September 2023 will be submitted through this platform. This process applies to both general and thematic funding tracks. Application documents remain the same as before and are structured into three sections in the online platform.

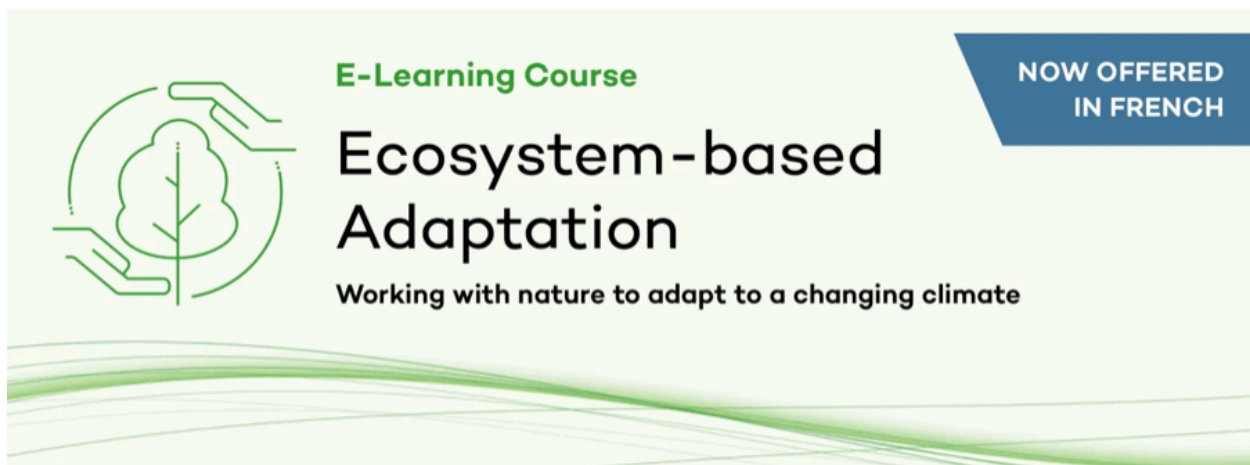

We strongly advise you to prepare your application offline ahead of time and transfer your information onto the portal when your application is ready. Register and explore the online platform here.

Still have questions on how to navigate the platform? Check out our FAQ here.

Thematic Track: Indigenous & Local Knowledge in EbA

Incorporating indigenous and local knowledge systems into EbA practices is crucial for ensuring ecosystem resilience and community well-being. Indigenous Peoples Organisations are strongly encouraged to apply. The deadline and application process are the same as the General Track. If an organisation is faced with capacity and due diligence limitations, organisations are still encouraged to apply. Missed our Webinars?

In 2023 the Global EbA Fund held several webinars to help potential applicants understand the Fund and how to develop their project proposals. Watch them here.

Get to know the Grantees

With three cohorts now underway, our grantees are beginning to make exciting progress in their projects. Read our collection of Grantee StoryMaps here.

The Global EbA Fund has now awarded a total of US$6,579,039 in grants to twenty-seven projects. Collectively, these projects will work to increase the uptake, scalability, and replicability of ecosystem-based adaptation to climate change interventions across diverse ecosystems in eighteen countries across five continents. Read about each ecosystem our Grantees are working in here.
